CAA MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Many of you will have seen the article about The Crochet Club of London in the Fall publication of the CAA magazine.

I was contacted by email asking if the Club was interested in being interviewed and the Board agreed. The interviewer was a freelance journalist from Toronto hired by the magazine and she asked questions for about an hour, then they followed up with a photographer who took about 100 pictures.

They were very impressed by what our organization has accomplished and the information found on our website

The Club has received very positive feedback since the article was published, including new members , donations of yarn, blankets and money , and suggestions for the Club's future

The best feedback has been the demonstration of the impact a small group of selfless people can make on our community and surrounding area, by giving of their time and talents!

Happy Crocheting!

Lynne Hammond- President

WESTERN FAIR

Best of luck to everyone who entered a blanket into the fair. We look forward to seeing them displayed for all fair goers to admire.
